

ABOUT THE SHERPA LIBRARY

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS:

Leadership development is more important than ever. You can't do it on your own, and you can't afford to choose the wrong partner. Sherpa Coaching has developed proven tools that help organizations build a coaching culture. The Sherpa Library puts a time-tested Learning & Development platform at your disposal, with all the resources you need to master and deliver the top 5 programs from the Sherpa Leadership Institute.

HOW WILL THIS HELP?

For 15 years, Sherpa Coaching has provided the most comprehensive research on Executive Coaching and is home to the most recognized educators in the field. We welcome the opportunity to share our extensive research and training done in conjunction with 10 major universities and better acquaint you with the "Impact On Business" (IOB) that comes through executive education for leaders and teams.

BACKGROUND BRIEFING:

In 2005, executive coaches Brenda Corbett and Judith Colemon published the definitive process for executive coaching, in their book 'The Sherpa Guide: Process-Driven Executive Coaching'. The book continues to be the text for coaching certifications at major universities and the foundation for the numerous Sherpa Coaching Programs that have been developed since. For the last 15 years, Sherpa Coaching has also provided the most in-depth research on Executive Coaching through the results gained from its Annual Executive Coaching Survey. The resulting research continues to provide the foundation for Sherpa Coaching's ever evolving programs including 'Why It Matters' and most recently, the Executive Presence series.

BENEFITS DELIVERED:

The 'Top 4' reasons for the use of Executive Coaching.

- improving communication & team effectiveness, using a published process that delivers sustainable results.
- develop 'up and coming' leaders.
- assistance in transition: get new hires and recently promoted leaders up to speed quickly.
- solve specific behavioral challenges.

The Sherpa Library - Cincinnati, Ohio USA - www.sherpa-library.com

Contact us on the website, or write to info@sherpa-library.com